Ansel Adams: Images of UC-San Diego

In 1963, famed photographer Ansel Adams was commissioned by the University of California to photograph each UC campus. A selection of the photographs was published in Fiat Lux in 1967, as one of the centennial publications prepared by the University. Although Adams shot more than 70 images of this campus, Fiat Lux included only 10 images of UC-San Diego. The Adams’ photos include iconic shots of the Scripps pier and the breezeway between Bonner and Mayer halls, as well as images of some of UCSD’s most distinguished early faculty—Margaret and Geoffrey Burbidge, Walter Munk, John Stewart, and Nobelist Harold Urey.

The UC Riverside Museum of Photography, which holds the negatives of Adams’ Fiat Lux work, made Adams’ UCSD photos available for UCSD’s 50th anniversary celebration. Now on view at the UCSD Faculty Club, through the summer, the photographs will remain part of the library’s permanent collection, housed in the Mandeville Special Collections Library. The exhibition is an extraordinary opportunity to view these little-known but splendid images of a young UCSD.

Cedar Plank Salmon

Ingredients

- 1 side skinless, boneless salmon; approx. 3-4 pounds
- Olive oil
- Cedar plank
- 1 bunch of parsley, basil, thyme, or dill
- 2 clove garlic, chopped
- 1 tablespoon black pepper
- 1 tablespoon kosher salt

Method:

Check the salmon for scales or bones and remove if necessary. Rub olive oil on both sides of the whole salmon. Put salmon on cedar plank skin side up.

Chop all the herbs and the garlic, thoroughly mixing them together. Lightly sprinkle pepper and kosher salt on both sides of the salmon. Liberally spread the chopped herbs all over the salmon. Bake in pre-heated oven at 375° for 15 minutes or on the top shelf of your outdoor grill for 20 minutes.

Salmon should be slightly dark in the center. Serve with tzatzki sauce & lemon.
