A Monthly Publication from The Ida and Cecil Green Faculty Club

French Country Picnic Tuesday, August 4, 2015 5:00 pm—8:00 pm

The Board of Directors invite you to come capture a bit of Parisian summer in the Faculty Club Courtyard.

Chef Ed will be delighting us with some of our favorite French picnic dishes and wine.

Expect a night filled with delicious meats and pates, great Rosé, amazing cheeses, and live music. The event is open to members and non-members. A lovely way to experience our beautiful Club during our wonderful La Jolla summer.

Yael and Vlady have been playing together for about five years. Both grew up in Europe. The music they now make together is a result of the culture they came from mixed with American blues, R&B grooves, Latin rhythms, and contemporary expressionist art.

A Month of Sundaes Our Sweetest Tradition

Every day in August our lunch buffet will feature an ice cream sundae bar with a variety of flavors, hot fudge and all your favorite toppings. To keep Wednesday extra special, we will once again feature Chef Ed's homemade ice creams scooped by your Faculty Club Board members who will be happy to serve you as many scoops as you can enjoy.

Faculty Club Art Show

UCSD Nocturnes—Painting by Paula McColl
Curated by Alain Cohen

Emerson has told us “an institution is the lengthened shadow of a man” The UCSD campus is a wonderful example of the work of many men and women who have created marvelous shadows in the form of architecture, art & design.

In this exhibition I wish to honor some of their work. There are many fine subjects to choose from—it feels that this exhibition is only the beginning. I have chosen a palette that partly inspired by the artists James McNeil Whistler and Peter Doig. I wanted to explore a time of day that is serene and often with pleasing atmospheric effects. This quiet, darker palette offers a sense of calm of that time before the action of the day begins, and again hear its end. I wish to share this time and these images.

Paula's paintings will be on display through September 2015.

Vint Cerf

Vice President and Chief Internet Evangelist Google

Vinton G. Cerf has served as vice president and chief Internet evangelist for Google since October 2005. In this role, he contributes to global policy development, standardization and continued spread of the Internet. Cerf is the former senior vice president of Technology Strategy for MCI. In this role, Cerf was responsible for helping to guide corporate strategy development from the technical perspective. Previously, Cerf served as MCI's senior vice president of Architecture and Technology, leading a team of architects and engineers to design advanced networking frameworks including Internet based solutions for delivering a combination of data, information, voice and video services for business and consumer use. Widely known as one of the "Fathers of the Internet," Cerf is the codesigner of the TCP/IP protocols and the architecture of the Internet. In December 1997, President Clinton presented the U.S. National Medal of Technology to Cerf and his colleague, Robert E. Kahn, for founding and developing the Internet. Kahn and Cerf were named the recipients of the ACM Alan M. Turing award in 2004 for their work on the Internet protocols. The Turing award is sometimes called the "Nobel Prize of Computer Science." In November 2005, President George Bush awarded Cerf and Kahn the Presidential Medal of Freedom for their work. The medal is the highest civilian award given by the United States to its citizens. In April 2008, Cerf and Kahn received the prestigious Japan Prize and in 2013 Cerf, Kahn and three others received the Queen Elizabeth Prize in Engineering. Cerf was made an officer of the French Legion d'Honneur in July 2013.

The cost to attend each event is $50 per person (includes refreshments and parking).

A significant discount is available for UC San Diego alumni, faculty, staff and students as well as individuals who purchase tickets for all four events. For additional information, call (858) 534-9710 or email econroundtable@ucsd.edu.
